eVeR Safe Successfully Reaches Its Final Milestone

After nearly three years of cooperation and innovation, the eVeR Safe project has successfully come to an end.

Partners from six European countries developed and tested a training programme that helps autistic adults respond safely in emergency situations.

The final phase included pilot trainings, completion of all project results, and the certification of six additional trainers.

The eVeR Safe legacy will continue through its training materials, resources, and certified professionals across Europe.

Positive Results from Pilot Training

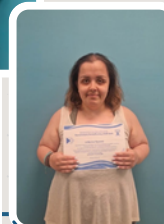

Autistic adults participating in the pilot training sessions completed a comprehensive learning programme focused on emergency preparedness, emotional regulation, and practical safety skills.

Participants explored topics such as:

- Fire safety
- Floods and storms
- Earthquakes
- Power outages
- Home security
- Everyday emergency situations

The training combined easy-to-understand theoretical lessons, instructional videos, practical discussions, and Virtual Reality scenarios. The blended approach helped participants build knowledge, practise safety skills, and gain confidence in emergency situations.
